

The Emergency Outreach and Trauma Response Program only accepts MSW interns from the University at Buffalo's School of Social Work.

The placement offers experience working in a short-term, crisis capacity with adults with mental illness and issues of lethality. Those interested should inquire with the School of Social Work's Field Education Office.

If space is determined to be available, you will follow placement protocol as established by the Field Education Office.